U.S. Bases In Turkey Taken Over

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) - Turkey, angered by a continuing U.S. arms embargo, assumed authority Saturday over all 20 American military installations

The cabinet declared Friday that bilateral defense treaties with Washington were "no longer valid" and activity at the U.S. bases had to cease at midnight.

"We are effectively assuming control of all American bases," Interior Minister Ogizhan Asilturk said. When asked if the American personnel would be forced to leave he replied, "The details are to be worked out by the Turkish general staff according to the needs of the situation."

President Ford issued a statement in Washington saying the suspension of U.S. activities "will work to the detriment of critically important U.S. security interests." He said he hoped the House of Representatives would reconsider the matter "in view of these damaging developments."

Turkey's reaction followed a 223-206 vote Thursday by the U.S. House of Representatives against resuming American arms shipments to this North Atlantic Treaty Organization country.

The Ford administration had sought a partial lifting of the arms ban imposed in February because of the Turkish invasion of Cyprus a year ago.

Turkey's decision, broadcast by the state radioand television, said all U.S. military installations on Turkish soil would be placed under the control of the Turkish armed forces.

A special status was designed for the strategic air base with nuclear bombers at Incirlik, in southeast Turkey. The announcement said all activity at Incirlik not relating to joint defense of the North Atlantic alliance wold be halted. It did not elaborate.

The United States has about 7,000 military men stationed in Turkey. Besides the Incirlik base, the U.S. installations consist of intelligence gathering radar stations which provide surveillance of the Soviet Union. Some are small stations with five or

The statement said the bilateral defense treaties between Turkey and the United States, under which the installations were set up, were no longer

Turkey had called for negotiations over the arms embargo last month and had given the United States a one-month deadline before the bases would be placed on an unclarified "temporary status," but action was postponed until after the House vote.

President Ford sent a telegram to Ankara immediately after the House vote asking the government not to close the bases, and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger telephoned Prime Minister Suleiman Demirel urging "restraint."

Demirel had said that "the scope and the limits of the American decision" would determine the Turkish attitude. It is generally believed here that much milder action would have been taken against the American bases in case of a favorable House vote.

Kissinger, at a Washington news conference, called the House vote "a tragic evolution" and an unfortunate decision for Turkey and Greece and for prospects for a settlement on Cyprus.

Ford had led a high-powered campaign to resume some of the arms deliveries. Immediately after the vote, Ford said the House action "can only do the most serious and irreparable damage to the vital national security interest of the United States."

A complete list of the U.S. installations was not available because of security directives but only four bases were considered to to be major facilities. They are Incirlik and three intelligence gathering units at Karamursel south of Istanbul, Sinop on the Black Sea coast and Pirinclik in the southeast.

Informed sources say Pirinclik has a unique capacity for gathering intelligence from the Soviet

The rest of the installations form a network of radar listening stations.

They are known to be at Izmiron the Aegean coast, Gemlik beside the Marmara Sea, Malatya and Erzurum in the east, Samsun on the Black Sea, Gelibolu on the Dardanelles, three near Ankara, one each at Balikesir and Askihesir in the northwest, and two at Adana near Incirlik.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Perry, 830 Manes Court, Greg had five-day home stays in Germany, Austria and Greece. Each visit gave him a glimpse of a different lifestyle.

The front half of the house faced the town, while the back opened up to the barn and fields. Whether you were in the city or the country "kinda depended on which door you went out of," Greg jested.

Of Generals Governs In Portugal Triumvirate

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal's ruling armed forces created a triumvirate of generals Friday to govern the country with virtually unlimited powers.

The decision by the 240-member Armed Forces Movement represented a victory for the Communist-backed premier, Gen. Vasco Goncalves. Serving with Goncalves on the directorate will be President Francisco da Costa Gomes - a moderate - and the national security chief, Gen. Otelo Saraiva de Carvalho. He is known as a nationalistic leftist.

the power play by the more radical officers. The council spokesman said the three generals were named in a move to "centralize" authority.

Moderates officers had accused radical elements of ignoring results of last April's elections for a constitutional assembly. The Socialists and Centrist Popular Democrats won two-thirds of the votes but both parties pulled out of the coalition cabinet within the past two weeks, accusing the military rulers of seeking to establish a Communist-influenced dictatorship. The Communists won 12.5% of the ballots in the election.

Earlier in the day Costa Gomes had cautioned the radicals against going to far too fast with their leftist "revolution."

But he reminded the AFM of Portugal's ties with the West and, in the case of Europe, what he called its "extreme vulnerabilities."

"Our revolution was made for the people and it should be made with the people, especially the most disfavored classes," he said. Even before the assembly met, there were unconfirmed reports that seven moderate officers on the ruling Revolutionary Council had resigned in protest of a plan to set up a trio of generals to run the country. Five members of the powerful 30-man council, the nation's highest authority with near dictatorial powers, failed to show up for the assembly meeting.

The Popular Democrats and Socialists precipitated the current crisis by quitting the government after saying the military was turning it into a leftist dictatorship.

It was suggested, instead, that the assembly would be asked to ratify Carvalho, now in Cuba on an official visit, as a vice premier along with a civilian vice premier. This would appear to diminish Goncalves' premiership. The AFM was expected to give ringing endorsement to Goncalves, who is identified closely with the Communist party, to name a new cabinet early next week. A Coimbra University economics professor,

Jose Joaquim Teixeira Ribeiro, 67, was mentioned as Goncalves' choice to run the cabinet with the 38-year-old Carvalho, a flamboyant officer who led the military operation in 1974 ousting the longtime rightist dictatorship.

Five other civilians were reported selected for cabinet posts. The old cabinet of 19 members had 11 civilians.

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) - The three Apollo astronauts were hospitalised in the Tripler Army Hospital on Friday for treatment of lung trritation caused by inhaling gas that filled their spacecraft Thursday during its return to earth.

Astronauts Thomas P Stafford, Vance D. Brand and Donald K. Slayton were in "no immediate danger" but may have been exposed to an insidious poison gas that can have a delayed and serious effect, such as Dheumonia, doctors said

Doctors said the hospitalization was to tietermine the extent of the lung irritation. The astronauts were described as "happy and smiling" as they entered the hospital. The astronauts were described as "happy Officials said they were taken to the intensive care ward, but only because of the Sequipment available there for their treat-

Officials said the astronauts may have been exposed for 9 to 11 minutes to a rocket fuel oxidizer known as nitre tetroxide A gas filled their cabin as the spacecraft descended toward splashdown. Nitrogen tetroxide is described in medical books as "one of the most insidious gases" which can cause only slight pain upon initial contact but that possibly lead to serious lung congestion several days

In effect, the hospitalization was ordered to determine if these effects develop.

Stafford, the spacecraft commander, asked officials to notify the astronauts' wives and "tell them we're feeling pretty

Gas streamed into the space cabin as the Apollo spacecraft fell toward the Pacific Ocean splashdown 330 miles west of here. Stafford, Slayton and Brand donned oxygen masks, but Brand passed out for about a minute after the spacecraft was on the water. He was revived after his mask was adjusted and the flow of oxygen assured.

The astronauts told shipboard doctors of the gas problem after they left their spacecraft and the men were immediately sent to bed in the ship's sick bay.

The astronauts complained of chest pains Friday morning when they took deep breaths. They also coughed.

Doctors treated them with cortisone and ordered them hospitalized at the Army facility in Honolulu.

Officials at the Johnson Space Center in Houston said they were not positive of the type of gas, described as "brownish yellow" which invaded the space cabin as it dropped toward the ocean to end the joint mission with the Soviet Union.

Dr. Glynn S. Lunney, technical director of the Apollo mission, said "We haven't ruled anything out and we have to keep an open mind."

But doctors said that whatever the type of gas, the treatment would be the same because the first requirement is to reduce respiratory inflamation.

"We believe there is no danger of a collapsed lung," said Dr. Jerry Hordinsky, an astronaut physician. "What they're being observed for at the present is irritation of the lungs and we do not know the extent of it . . . The purpose of this is to see if it progresses or subsides."

Ford, who had wanted price controls removed more quickly, proposed phasing them out over a 39-month period and setting a price ceiling of from $11.50 to $13.50 a barrel on all domestically produced crude oil.

This represents a rollback on all current uncontrolled oil prices, but the $11.50 per barrel ceiling would gradually increase by five cents a month over the length of the program which runs through Nov. 30, 1978.

"This ceiling will assure that future increase in the price of imported oil will not affect our domestic market prices," said Ford. He also called his plan "a critical first step in reversing our growing dependence on foreign oil."

Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb said the rollback would not affect gasoline prices at the pump immediately because of other factors in the marketplace. He expects the Ford program would result in a five to six cent a gallon increase in petroleum prices, including gasoline, by 1978.

He said it is "unlikely" but he won't totally discount a seven cent a gallon

The energy chief told reporters the administration proposals "seemed to us to meet all the objections" raised against the original plan rejected by Congress this week. The President's aim is to force consumers to conserve fuel by raising costs and to provide fuel industries with monetary incentives to be plowed back into research and production.

Ford had also vetoed the congressional energy plan to roll back the price of some U.S.-produced oil to $11.28 a barrel and to extend the controls on other domestic oil for four months. The price control law is scheduled to expire Aug. 31, and both the White House and Congress feared that if allowed to die fuel prices would rise drastically and hurt the economy.

The Ford compromise could be killed by a simple majority vote of either the House or Senate.

Greatest Resource Is People

In a recent article by one of the members of a group retracing on horseback the original Oregon Trail, the writer spoke of the warm welcomes, help and enthusiasm shown the travelers by so many other people. It was then said that "people are America's greatest resource.'

That may not sound very profound to you but it is something of significance that we often forget about. It was proven again to this writer one morning recently.

Stopping for a cup of coffee at a local restaurant, I was joined by an elderly gentleman who turned out to be a Sandhills cattle rancher. Without even a high school education, his English was flawless and his knowledge of things as broad as his long

He knew with considerable detail the ins and outs of banking as it relates to the cattle business. The banker, he said, will lend more money than you would even believe to the young man starting out in the cattle business with the same kind of family background behind him

It is the man without the background, he said, that has the difficulty. And it is the absentee owner who suffers the heavy losses of adverse weather.

Cattle, he explained, are like little children — they must be constantly fed and cared for. That is a seven-day-a-week

The young man with a future is the one who was taken along as a very young boy by his father to tend the gates and do other small jobs in the operation of a ranch.

Part of the reason for this, he explained, is that there are a million ways to lose your shirt in the business. If you buy Black Angus feeders, for instance, and expect them to gain in weight during July and August, you have made a deadly mistake,

Land, cattle and equipment, he explained, constitute a good mix of assets, with too heavy reliance on any single one of them an invitation to economic disaster. And success, he pointed out, is measured in terms of years, not a single season.

He was an engineer, too, and probably a lot of other things. But the press of time didn't allow us to get into many other

The point is that this short, chance meeting was another demonstration of the vitality and value of this state's and the nation's human resources. Here was a man, largely self-educated, with obvious pride in his independence and a warehouse of invaluable information in his mind.

People are what counts, and all else is secondary.

Hands Off Portugal

In fifteen months the Portuguese people have thrown off a dictatorship of the right only to find themselves rushing full tilt - against the majority will - toward a dictatorship of the left. At this point Portugal, seething with political unrest and with its economic base in a shambles, teeters on the brink of anarchy. The communists and their sympathizers, while in the minority, look to be in the strongest position, but even that could change momentarily.

Because they have the backing of power-wielding radical military officers, the communists control the government, the bureaucracy and the media. Yet the communists and communist sympathizers were able to capture only 18% of the vote in last spring's Constituent Assembly election. The communists, it seems, have everything but the people (an aphorism communists are fond of quoting when they are not in power).

People from across a broad spectrum of Portuguese life are now in the streets demonstrating in behalf of a parliamentary democracy and personal liberties.

At this point, while the situation tips back and forth in the balance, the American government can't be blamed for wanting to somehow influence the out-

The Russians announced to the world some seven years ago - and got away with it! — the Brezhnev Doctrine, under which they are obliged to stomp on dissent or react to outside meddling within their sphere of influence.

Washington obviously feels it would be provocative, image-splattering and dangerous to detente to take a hand in guiding NATO ally Portugal along a democratic course and away from communist domination. What the Soviets are given license to do, the U.S. would suffer for in the eyes of the world. That is the price a nation pays for pretending to play by the rules.

All is not lost in Portugal, however. A majority of the people, including a strong, angry middle class, do not want communist rule. While the issue is being decided in the streets, America and the West should withhold aid from Portugal's ailing economy. That may force the issue one way or the other. If the communists are going to crush popular will, they will do so at any cost. There is no use kidding ourselves that economic aid to Portugal will stave off communism. All it will do is line the pockets of tyrants once power is con-

NEW YORK - Nicholas M. Horrock of The New York Times has impressively documented a grim story of how the Nixon administration attempted to overthrow the government of Chile in the fall of 1970, before Salvador Aliende Gossens could take office as that country's first Marxist president. This American effort to inspire a military coup in Chile began at a secret meeting on Sept. 15, 1970, of Richard Nixon, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, Former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, and Richard Helms, then the director of the Central Intelligence

In "strong language" Nixon told Helms, according to Horrock's account, that the CIA was not doing enough to prevent Allende from becoming president, and had better "come up with some ideas." Nixon authorized an expenditure of $10 million for the effort to unseat Allende (who had won the popular election with less than a majority of the vote, and whose election therefore had to be confirmed by the Chilean Congress).

 $\Delta \Delta \Delta$ The result of this meeting was two unsuccessful coup attempts backed by the CIA, one of which resulted in the kidnapping and death of Gen. Rene Schneider Chereau. That is bad enough, a shameful blot on American history, but it cannot be undone now. dictment against Helms and perhaps others.

Repeatedly, through a series of congressional hearings, Helms has testified that no such effort to overthrow the Chilean government was made. At worst, he has conceded in some of his testimony, efforts were made to see if it was possible to bribe members of the Chilean Congress to refuse Allende the presidency.

That was found to be "quite unworkable," Helms told the Foreign Relations Committee on Jan. 22, 1975. "Allende had this all wrapped up, it was put in the bag, and there was nothing that was going to change it."

But two years earlier, on March 16, 1973, before a Senate subcommittee, Helms had denied even that bloodless effort. Sen. Frank Church of Idaho asked him, "Up to the time that the Congress of Chile cast its vote installing Allende as the new president, did the CIA attempt in any way to influence that vote?"

"No, sir," Helms said flatly -although he later explained that he thought the CIA's "probe" into the possibilities of using bribe money had not really been an attempt to influence the vote. "I realize," he told Church last January, "even in light of that, that my answer was narrow."

 $\Delta \Delta \Delta$ It was not so narrow as another answer he gave at confirmation hearings on his nomination to be ambassador to Iran in 1973. Sen. Stuart Symington put the question flatly: "Did you try in the Central Intelligence Agency to overthrow the government of Chile?"

"No, sir," helms replied, despite the apparent CIA involvement, while he was the agency's director, in two separate plots designed to bring about a military take-over of the Chilean government and to bar Allende from the office to which he had been elected.

Asked about that again on Jan. 22, 1975, Helms insisted: "As far as the earlier statement is concerned, whether the agency tried to overthrow the government of Chile, I answered, 'No.' I believe that is true, if it has been alleged differently by someone else, I would appreciate having it."

It may be that Helms, at hazard to himself, was simply protecting the national security as he saw it, with these answers; but on that same Jan. 22, 1975, Sen. George McGovern asked him if he thought he had "a right, maybe an obligation, on certain occasions, to mislead congressional committees?"

No, Helms said, he had tried to be as forthcoming as he could be, and he had always had the option of going privately to senators and saying what perhaps could not be said in hearings. "I don't want to seek refuge and say I lied in the national security interest," he said. "I didn't run into any situation where I thought that was required."

Now the Justice Department apparently is considering this record, together with the facts of CIA operations in Chile, and perhaps other activities it undertook while Helms was its director. If perjury charges ensue, that would be a sad development for Richard Helms but it might have salutary effect elsewhere in the government.

It might make public officials think twice before routinely lying, or misleading Congress and the public with "narrow" answers. If they feared to lie or mislead, it might make them think twice about what they do. Public officials who had to face up to their own actions and policies, and accept the political and legal consequences, might not be quite so quick to overthrow another government, cover up a scandal or play ball with the interests they supposed-

We pointed out to the Shah that in our talks with Israeli Prime Minister Rabin and other Israeli leaders, we found there was little confidence in international guarantees, that what Israel wanted was the establishment of normal relations with its Arab neighbors once a peace settlement is reached.

TEHERAN - Israel, in the opinion of the Shah of Iran, is running a very dangerous risk in attempting to delay return of the Arab territories occupied in the 1967 and 1973 wars.

In an exclusive interview with William Randolph Hearst Jr., editor-in-chief of the Hearst

"They don't look irresponsible to me"

Newspapers, and the writer, the world's most powerful monarch said Israel's delaying tactics could cause the downfall of Egyptian President Anwar el-Sadat and his replacement by an extremist regime.

This, the Shah warned, would lead to another Arab-Israeli war. and even though Israel might win the next one, she will not, he emphasized, win the last one.

'Thou Shalt Not Delay To Offer

Iran's absolute ruler, who has pursued a moderate policy towards the Jewish state, said the only safeguard for Israel's security is an international guarantee of its pre-1967 war

"Israel is making a great mistake in relying on the occupied Arab territories for its security," the Shah added. "In these days of long-range planes flying at 80,-000 feet and ground-to-ground missiles that go over any obstacle, there is no such thing as secure borders for Israel.

"The Egyptians could bomb Tel Aviv from west of Cairo. The only security for Israel is an international guarantee of its former borders. Even the Russians are willing to join in such a guarantee. If the United States and the Soviet Union gave such a guarantee, it would be almost enough, but probably it would be wise to have it done within the framework of the United Nations — by the Security Council. Both sides need such a guarantee.'

We pointed out to the Shah that in our talks with Israeli Prime Minister Rabin and other Israeli leaders, we found there was little confidence in international guarantees, that what Israel wanted was the establishment of normal relations with its Arab neighbors once a peace settlement is reached.

"I don't think President Sadat would say no to that," the Shah replied.

We told him President Sadat had said to us he was willing to sign a peace treaty with Israel once it had withdrawn from all the occupied territories, but that it would take time - perhaps to the next generation - to esof the hatred of 27 years of con-"That's right," the Shah said.

"What does Israel want in addition to a peace treaty? What does she mean by normal relations? Does she want to trade with Egypt?" We said that was what Premier Rabin and former Foreign Minister Abba Eban told us in Jerusalem last week, that Israel's conception of peace was open boundaries, movement of people and goods and the same kind of relations that exist, for example, between France and Italy.

"If Israel wants that kind of peace tomorrow, it is not possible," the Shah said.

We explained that Abba Eban told us that if Egypt feels there can only be gradual progress towards peace, then it must expect gradualism in the withdrawal of Israeli forces from the occupied territories, that Israel cannot be expected to give up 100 per cent of the territory for 50 per cent of peace.

"That is very dangerous," the Shah said. "It is very dangerous for two reasons. One is that the Arabs could become so exasperated they would overthrow President Sadat in Egypt. Some completely radical people would take over and that would lead to another war." We pointed out King Hussein told us that Israel could probably win the next war and the next and the one after that.

"But not the last war," the Shah emphasized. "Because where will the wars between Israel and its Arab neighbors stop — in Damascus or Cairo? Okay, perhaps they could reach there, but there would still be another hundred million Arabs left to fight them. Has Israel enough men to occupy the whole tablish normal relations because of the Arab world? Can she go to Algeria? Can she fight Saudi

"Furthermore, can Israel sustain such military expenditures for the next 10 years? Who has to pay for it? You Americans - for what? For supporting a very immoral question - the occupation by force of the land of some countries by another country.

"That is exactly what you are doing now. When your Senate adopts resolutions and sends letters to the President supporting Israel, you are supporting the occupation of the land of Arab countries by another coun-

"At the same time, you punish Turkey for sending troops to the Turkish inhabited part of Cyprus. Isn't that a double standard?"

We than asked the Shah if he thought there were any other measures the United Nations could take to facilitate conclusion of a new interim agreement between Israel and Egypt.

"Only Dr. Kissinger can bring about the interim agreement,' the Shah said. "But others could express support for his efforts. Otherwise, the issue will have to be referred to the Geneva Conference.'

When we asked him if he thought President Sadat was likely to insist on withdrawal of the U.N. peacekeeping forces in the Sinai if the interim agreement is not reached soon, the Shah replied, "That depends. If the Security Council supports the Egyptian case and calls on Israel to move more quickly, he may not insist, but if nothing is achieved, then President Sadat will be in difficulty. He must do

Clay County Towns Behind Bicentennial

Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Clay Center - Nebraska's biggest gathering vet of bicentennial flags will be the backdrop Sunday as Clay Countians run up banner No.

All 11 towns in the county, even tiny unincorporated Saronville, already own bicentennial designation. The county itself will get official recognition as a highlight of the Clay County Fair.

Only three other counties in the state can claim such unanimity and none encompass as many towns as Clay. Adams has eight and Polk, four. Lonely Sioux's one and only community, Harrison, also posseses one of the cherished flags.

"Clay, Adams and Polk have been kind of the heart of our bicentennial activities to date," said Don Searcy, executive director of the Nebraska American Revolution Bicentennial Commission. "Between them they account for well over 10% of the 199 recognitions so far bestowed. Sunday's culmination of Clay's activities is particularly great."

Answering muster for the afternoon program will be participants from each of the communities: Clay Center. Edgar, Fairfield, Sutton, Harvard, Trumbull, Inland, Glenvil, Deweese, Ong and Saronville. Appropriately. county chairman Mrs. John Sullivan will be mistress of ceremonies.

Active in several patriotic organizations ever since World War II, the energetic Clay Center woman especially warmed up for the bicentennial task while heading the state's American Legion Auxiliary in 1971.

"I guess it stirred up my own patriotism because I saw so little of it in other people,' she explained. "But obviously I'm not the only Clay Countian to get worked up.

One such colleague, Mrs. Bill Ridgway of Fairfield, works alongside Mrs. Sullivan both as a legal secretary and as chairman of Fairfield's Bicentennial committee. That town was Clay's first to gain official recognition.

Projects over the county have ranged from Fairfield's two square dance groups to construction of a Harvard minipark to the opening of a county museum in the old Deweese high school. Both men's and women's singing groups, the Clay County Minutemen and Clay Center Belles, have been mobilized for the special year.

Exemplifying the cooperative spirit is a dazzling red, white and blue quilt taking detailed note of the various county projects. Each community made its own appropriate square and will help sell chances on the quilt to raise funds for still more bicentennial ac-

2nd Psalm and Acts 4:25.

Are you concerned and troubled about the great increase in lawlessness? Violent hold-ups, stealing, cheating, swindling, murder, rape, adultery, and other kinds of violence and anarchy! At times these things strike mighty close to our homes, loved ones, and friends! And they will get closer unless some change is made. In the days of Noah God destroyed the earth and everything wherein was the breath of life excepting the eight members of Noah's family, and the animals he kept alive in the Ark according to God's orders. The cause of this judgment was for causes similar to the ones that exist today: "Man corrupted God's way on the earth, and the earth was filled with violence." With good reasoning and logic, it has been estimated there might have been four hundred and eighty billion people that perished -over a hundred times as many as now living on the earth! (We digress to again suggest in this column man had better leave the matter of "birth control" in the hands of The Almighty, where it belongs, lest He say of us what He did of one man: "It had been good for that man if he had not been born!" Matthew 26:24. We remind you that God says in His Word "If we fear God, and keep His Commandments, the whole duty of man," God has engaged Himself to bless the "fruit of the womb" and take away sickness; also, to bless the fruit of the ground in order there might be plenty to eat. Hear the words of the Man after God's Heart: "I HAVE BEEN YOUNG, AND NOW AM OLD: YET HAVE I NOT SEEN THE RIGHTEOUS FORSAKEN, NOR HIS SEED BEGGINB BREAD." Psalm 37:25. Of course, however, unbelief and disobedience makes null and void these precious promises. It appears there is very little confidence in them today, with most of us!)

MY SPIRIT SHALL NOT ALWAYS STRIVE WITH MAN-," The Almighty announced in the days of Noah, and sent the flood. Gen. 6:3. It may be the time has about arrived when His Spirit will quit striving with you, and me! Until that time comes we would do well to remember that Christ told us to do some striving: "STRIVE TO ENTER IN AT THE STRAIT GATE: FOR MANY, I SAY UNTO YOU, WILL SEEK TO ENTER IN, AND SHALL NOT BE ABLE!" Luke 13:24. We can joining His Church -- "When thou vowest a vow unto God, defer not to pay it; for He hath no pleasure in fools: pay that which thou hast vowed." Eccles. 5:4. We should strive to be faithful in our testimony that the Bible is the Word of God, and be careful not to get in the "broad way" of unbelief of those who both in and out of the Church attack the Bible. We should strive to be faithful in our testimony that the Ten Commandments reveal the morality, righteousness, and very character of God; and strive to be workers together with His Holy Spirit in writing these Commandments in our hearts to the end we may accomplish the whole duty of man, which is "To fear God, and

We call attention to another judgment and visitation of God upon corruption and violence. This was by means of a vision, probably foretelling things shortly to come about in the city of Jerusalem. In the 9th chapter of Ezekiel we read: "AND THE LORD SAID UNTO HIM, GO THROUGH THE MIDST OF THE CITY, THROUGH THE MIDST OF JERUSALEM, AND SET A MARK UPON THE FOREHEADS OF THE MEN THAT SIGH AND CRY FOR ALL THE ABOMINATIONS THAT BE DONE IN THE MIDST THEREOF, AND TO THE OTHERS (those with destroying weapons) HE SAID IN MINE HEARING, GO YE AFTER HIM THROUGH THE CITY, AND SMITE: LET NOT YOUR EYE SPARE, NEITHER HAVE YE PITY: SLAY UTTERLY OLD AND YOUNG, BOTH MAIDS. AND LITTLE CHILDREN, AND WOMEN: BUT COME NOT NEAR ANY UPON WHOM IS THE MARK: AND BEGIN AT MY SANCTUARY. THEN THEY BEGAN AT THE ANCIENT MEN WHICH WERE BEFORE THE HOUSE." Pay day, some

keep His Commandments.'

Concerning God's judgements and slaughter of the wicked, the writer has had Divines, or Dry Vines, say to him: "God is not like that!" Permit this comment on that: Consider the slaughter, death, and suffering going on all the time in all the world: surely as the Scripture says: "The whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain and death even until now." Think of the death, suffering, and sorrow in our own city, in our own generation, and the wars of former generations, history, and antiquity. If your god don't control all these things, then surely your god must have lost control. Surely you need to seek and find the God who has not lost control, even the true Christian's God - not one sparrow falls to the ground without His permission. He explains why all this death, slaughter, suffering: THE CAUSE IS SIN: DISOBEDIENCE TO HIS LAWS AND COMMANDMENTS: "FOR THE WAGES OF SIN IS DEATH!" BUT, BUT, "BUT THE GIFT OF GOD IS ETERNAL LIFE THROUGH OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST -FOR GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD, THAT HE GAVE HIS ONLY BEGOTTEN SON, THAT WHOSOEVER BELIEVETH IN HIM SHOULD NOT PERISH, BUT HAVE EVERLASTING LIFE." John 3:16.

In closing we quote two passages of Scripture in which God tells us how we can get rid of evil:

First is from Isaiah 26:9, 10: "WHEN GOD'S JUDGEMENTS ARE IN THE EARTH, THE INHABITANTS OF THE WORLD WILL LEARN RIGHTEOUSNESS. LET FAVOR BE SHOWED TO THE WICKED, YET WILL HE NOT LEARN RIGHTEOUSNESS: IN THE LAND OF UPRIGHTNESS WILL HE DEAL UNJUSTLY --." This is meant especially for those who have God ordained authority to keep law and order, and put away evil. Of course, there is no hope here when such authorities are themselves in rebellion against the judgements of The Almighty! The Second is from Jeremiah 23:21 where God says if the prophets, even though He did not call them to prophecy, would stand in His counsel and cause His people to hear My Words: "THEN THEY SHOULD HAVE TURNED THEM FROM THEIR EVIL WAY, AND FROM THE EVIL OF THEIR DOINGS." The application here is especially for the clergy, preachers, teachers, parents, and all who claim to be Christian. Who is to blame when wickedness grows and abounds, becomes rampant and worldwide, and the stench of man's vileness mounts up to heaven!

Clay County Towns Behind Bicentennial

By DEAN TERRILL

Southeast Nebraska Bureau Clav Center - Nebraska's biggest gathering yet of bicentennial flags will be the backdrop Sunday as Clay Countians run up banner No.

All 11 towns in the county, even tiny unincorporated Saronville, already own bicentennial designation. The county itself will get official recognition as a highlight of the Clay County Fair.

Only three other counties in the state can claim such unanimity and none encompass as many towns as Clay. Adams has eight and Polk, four. Lonely Sioux's one and only community, Harrison, also posseses one of the cherished flags.

"Clay, Adams and Polk have been kind of the heart of our bicentennial activities to date," said Don Searcy, executive director of the Nebraska American Revolution Bicentennial Commission. "Between them they account for well over 10% of the 199 recognitions so far bestowed. Sunday's culmination of Clay's activities is particularly great."

Answering muster for the afternoon program will be participants from each of the communities: Clay Center, Edgar, Fairfield, Sutton, Harvard, Trumbull, Inland, Glenvil, Deweese, Ong and Saronville. Appropriately, county chairman Mrs. John Sullivan will be mistress of ceremonies.

Active in several patriotic organizations ever since World War II, the energetic Clay Center woman especially warmed up for the bicentennial task while heading the state's American Legion Auxiliary in 1971.

"I guess it stirred up my own patriotism because I saw so little of it in other people," she explained. "But obviously I'm not the only Clay Countian to get worked up.'

One such colleague, Mrs. Bill Ridgway of Fairfield, works alongside Mrs. Sullivan both as a legal secretary and as chairman of Fairfield's Bicentennial committee. That town was Clay's first to gain official recognition.

Projects over the county have ranged from Fairfield's two square dance groups to construction of a Harvard minipark to the opening of a county museum in the old Deweese high school. Both men's and women's singing groups, the Clay County Minutemen and Clay Center Belles, have been mobilized for the special year.

Exemplifying the cooperative spirit is a dazzling red, white and blue quilt taking detailed note of the various county projects. Each community made its own appropriate square and will help sell chances on the quilt to raise funds for still more bicentennial ac-

Searcy will be on hand Sunday to present the county flag to County Board Chairman Harold Engel of Inland. Among dignitaries scheduled to be present will be Rep. Virginia

'Secret System' rarmers

Farm Editor

A Nebraska farm leader has charged that the federal government is operating a secret export control system designed to depress grain prices received by U.S. farmers.

Louis Wiebe, president of the Nebraska Farmers Union, charged, "This secret system is being worked out in private conversations with grain trading companies and foreign governments, according to sources in the grain trade.'

Wiebe said export sales to the Soviet Union would be limited to 250 million bushels of wheat and 315 million bushels of corn.

"The limit on sales to Russia is calculated to prevent grain and soybean prices from rising significantly," he said.

"We deplore the administration's present system of doubletalk, for farmers and ordinary citizens, secret manipulation with grain traders and political pressure on export customers of the American farmer," the farm leader said.

"WHY DO THE HEATHEN RAGE?" 2nd Psalm and Acts 4:25.

Are you concerned and troubled about the great increase in lawlessness? Violent hold-ups, stealing, cheating, swindling, murder, rape, adultery, and other kinds of violence and anarchy! At times these things strike mighty close to our homes, loved ones, and friends! And they will get closer unless some

In the days of Noah God destroyed the earth and everything wherein was the breath of life excepting the eight members of Noah's family, and the animals he kept alive in the Ark according to God's orders. The cause of this judgment was for causes similar to the ones that exist today: "Man corrupted God's way on the earth, and the earth was filled with violence." With good reasoning and logic, it has been estimated there might have been four hundred and eighty billion people that perished over a hundred times as many as now living on the earth! (We digress to again suggest in this column man had better leave the matter of "birth control" in the hands of The Almighty, where it belongs, lest He say of us what He did of one man: "It had been good for that man if he had not been born!" Matthew 26:24. We remind you that God says in His Word "If we fear God, and keep His Commandments, the whole duty of man," God has engaged Himself to bless the "fruit of the womb" and take away sickness; also, to bless the fruit of the ground in order there might be plenty to eat. Hear the words of the Man after God's Heart: "I HAVE BEEN YOUNG, AND NOW AM OLD: YET HAVE I NOT SEEN THE RIGHTEOUS FORSAKEN, NOR HIS SEED BEGGINB BREAD." Psalm 37:25. Of course, however, unbelief and disobedience makes null and void these precious promises. It appears there is very little confidence in them today, with most of us!)

"MY SPIRIT SHALL NOT ALWAYS STRIVE WITH MAN-," The Almighty announced in the days of Noah, and sent the flood. Gen. 6:3. It may be the time has about arrived. when His Spirit will quit striving with you, and me! Until that time comes we would do well to remember that Christ told us to do some striving: "STRIVE TO ENTER IN AT THE STRAIT GATE: FOR MANY, I SAY UNTO YOU, WILL SEEK TO ENTER IN, AND SHALL NOT BE ABLE!" Luke 13:24. We can strive to be "faithful unto death" to the vows made to God in joining His Church - "When thou vowest a vow unto God, defer not to pay it; for He hath no pleasure in fools: pay that which thou hast vowed." Eccles. 5:4. We should strive to be faithful in our testimony that the Bible is the Word of God, and be careful not to get in the "broad way" of unbelief of those who both in and out of the Church attack the Bible. We should strive to be faithful in our testimony that the Ten Commandments reveal the morality, righteousness, and very character of God; and strive to be workers together with His Holy Spirit in writing these Commandments in our hearts to the end we may accomplish the whole duty of man, which is "To fear God, and keep His Commandments.

We call attention to another judgment and visitation of God upon corruption and violence. This was by means of a vision, probably foretelling things shortly to come about in the city of Jerusalem. In the 9th chapter of Ezekiel we read: "AND THE LORD SAID UNTO HIM, GO THROUGH THE MIDST OF THE CITY, THROUGH THE MIDST OF JERUSALEM, AND SET A MARK UPON THE FOREHEADS OF THE MEN THAT SIGH AND CRY FOR ALL THE ABOMINATIONS THAT BE DONE IN THE MIDST THEREOF. AND TO THE OTHERS (those with destroying weapons) HE SAID IN MINE HEARING, GO YE AFTER HIM THROUGH THE CITY, AND SMITE: LET NOT YOUR EYE SPARE, NEITHER HAVE YE PITY: SLAY UTTERLY OLD AND YOUNG, BOTH MAIDS. AND LITTLE CHILDREN, AND WOMEN: BUT COME NOT NEAR ANY UPON WHOM IS THE MARK: AND BEGIN AT MY SANCTUARY. THEN THEY BEGAN AT THE ANCIENT MEN WHICH WERE BEFORE THE HOUSE." Pay day, some Concerning God's judgements and slaughter of the wicked, the writer has had Divines, or Dry Vines, say to him: "God is not like that!" Permit this comment on that: Consider the slaughter, death, and suffering going on all the time in all the world: surely as the Scripture says: "The whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain and death even until now.' Think of the death, suffering, and sorrow in our own city, in our own generation, and the wars of former generations, history, and antiquity. If your god don't control all these things, then surely your god must have lost control. Surely you need to seek and find the God who has not lost control, even the true Christian's God — not one sparrow falls to the ground without His permission. He explains why all this death, slaughter, suffering: THE CAUSE IS SIN: DISOBEDIENCE TO HIS LAWS AND COMMANDMENTS: "FOR THE WAGES OF SIN IS DEATH!" BUT, BUT, "BUT THE GIFT OF GOD IS ETERNAL LIFE THROUGH OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST — FOR GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD, THAT HE GAVE HIS ONLY BEGOTTEN SON, THAT WHOSOEVER BELIEVETH IN HIM SHOULD NOT PERISH, BUT HAVE EVERLASTING LIFE." John 3:16.

In closing we quote two passages of Scripture in which God tells us how we can get rid of evil:

First is from Isaiah 26:9, 10: "WHEN GOD'S JUDGEMENTS ARE IN THE EARTH, THE INHABITANTS OF THE WORLD WILL LEARN RIGHTEOUSNESS. LET FAVOR BE SHOWED TO THE WICKED, YET WILL HE NOT LEARN RIGHTEOUSNESS: IN THE LAND OF UPRIGHTNESS WILL HE DEAL UNJUSTLY -." This is meant especially for those who have God ordained authority to keep law and order, and put away evil. Of course, there is no hope here when such authorities are themselves in rebellion against the judgements of The Almighty!

The Second is from Jeremiah 23:21 where God says if the prophets, even though He did not call them to prophecy, would stand in His counsel and cause His people to hear My Words: "THEN THEY SHOULD HAVE TURNED THEM FROM THEIR EVIL WAY, AND FROM THE EVIL OF THEIR DOINGS." The application here is especially for the clergy, preachers, teachers, parents, and all who claim to be Christian. Who is to blame when wickedness grows and abounds, becomes rampant and worldwide, and the stench of man's vileness mounts up to heaven!

Disparate people share one bond they died in accidents

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Each year hundreds of Nebraskans die in traffic accidents. But behind the brutal headlines are people, not just statistics. Recently in Lincoln, four residents died in traffic and this story tells about the humans who were lost.)

By WES ALBERS Star Staff Writer

Just by accident the names of David M. Ketterer, Virgil McNeal and Randy L. Snow appeared one after another in the July 15 obituaries of The Lincoln Star. A day later, the name of Lisa Ann Davis appeared. They were four unique people - one with a life rich in memories, one with much to look forward to, two caught up in the activity of their early teens. There was no connection between their lives, but there was between their deaths . . . it happened

The corner of 27th and Holdrege was home to 81year-old Virgil McNeal. He was born in Alvo, Neb., but most of his life was spent right there on that cor-

For years, his father owned and operated the McNeal Drug Store just south of 27th and Holdrege. After his marriage in 1917, Virgil and his wife, Helen, lived above the store. In 1921, McNeal's parents built a two-story, whife frame house on the northeast corner of that intersection for Virgil and Helen. They made the big move from one side of the street to the other that year and have lived there ever since. The family drug store has long since been torn down. A parking lot

Things changed a lot on that corner while McNeal was there. The streets got wider, the traffic got heavier. Mrs. McNeal describes it now as a "bad street." Two years ago, she and Virgil were walking up the stairs to their house when a motorcyclist lost

McNeal was a cigar-maker before joining the Army in 1918, a job he couldn't stand because of the smoke. He was assigned to Camp Grant in Rockford,

Ill., where he worked building barracks. Mrs. McNeal says that aggravated his emphysema, a lung disease, and he was discharged with a 100% disabili-

His doctors advised him to work outside, so he took a job with the City Light and Power Co., where he worked for 33 years. Then his emphysema flared up again. He tried a desk job for a couple of months, but just wasn't able to work.

McNeal retired in 1947 and spent the next 28 years going in and out of Veterans Hospital so often the staff knew him well. On two occasions, he was hospitalized for a nine-month period. When he wasn't in the hospital, he liked to work outside, taking care of the yard and planting flowers.

On July 11, the McNeals had just finished dinner when Mrs. McNeal decided to go to the store across the street for a gallon of milk. McNeal offered to go

He always looked forward to summer.

They walked out of the house they had lived in for 54 years and stood at the curb. Mrs. McNeal started across, but her husband hesitated, saying he would wait for the next light.

As Mrs. McNeal watched from the west side of the street. McNeal started across and was struck by a car driven by 16-year-old Dale Clough, of 1348 N. 26th. The collision broke an arm and leg and caused McNeal died two days later.

Seven-year-old David Ketterer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Ketterer, of 2810 S. 40th, looked forward to summer, too. But he was looking forward to next summer more than anything else.

There are so many things a boy can't do or join or participate in until he's 8 years old. Next summer, David would have been 8.

The youngest of the four Ketterer children, David was an active, friendly "bundle of energy." He seemed to know everybody. If a street repair crew did anything more than just drive through the neighborhood, David would get to know them. And everybody seemed to like him, too.

David went swimming a lot at Eden Park swimming pool this summer. He didn't know how to swim yet, but he got in and tried. Next summer, he would have been old enough for lessons.

Then there was music. David loved music. His parents remember him sitting around the house strumming a guitar he didn't really know how to play, perhaps thinking of taking lessons someday.

And, of course, like a lot of other boys, David was "practicing like mad" so he would be good enough to play on an organized baseball team next

Next fall, David would have been a second grader at Cathedral of the Risen Christ School, 3245 S. 37th. And he was looking forward to being old enough to take his first Communion. Next year.

David went with his mother to Eden Park pool on July 12 to watch a swimming meet. But nothing could hold his active attention for long. About noon, he got bored and started walking home with a young

He was crossing 48th St. between Normal Blvd. and Antelope Creek Rd., trying to catch up with some other friends, when he was hit by a car driven by 83-year-old John Broening of Bennett.

Mrs. Ketterer thought at first that David had just wandered off around the pool somewhere. He died at a local hospital two hours later.

If all goes as planned, there will soon be a new tree at the Eden Park pool - planted there in David's honor by his friends.

Randy L. Snow, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett

Snow, of 1003 S. 34th, had a busy summer ahead of him. There were so many things planned, so many things going on. The highlight was to be the family's annual camping trip, to be made this year when Randy sinished summer school at East High.

CAR SLAMMED INTO POLE . . . after colliding with pickup. Snow youth was killed, three other people hospitalized

The Snow family always tried to do things together. And Randy was always busy - attending Redeemer Lutheran Church's high school choir practice one night, going to Junior Achievement another night and to an Explorer meeting on a third.

A member of Boy Scouts from age 8 to 15, Randy collected the usual badges, went on the usual camping trips Last fall, he "outgrew" the Boy Scouts and joined the Explorers.

But his real passion of the moment was Junior Achievement, a program that teaches youth to run their own small businesses. Randy and his brother, Ed, were making and selling personalized matches, name cards and nameplates. Randy hadn't missed a meeting since he'd joined.

The family hobby was water-skiing, and Randy was good at it. A member of Carter Lake Ski Club, Randy had gone with his family to lakes in South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri to compete. He both jumped and skiled in competition and had the trophies to prove it.

And, of course, there were cars. Randy loved cars All he wanted to do was be a mechanic like his father. At 16, he had already made up his mind.

Randy's parents say he always respected cars. His only traffic offense came the day he skipped school and was ticketed by a park ranger for spinning the car's wheels in gravel.

On July 12, Randy and his 11-year-old brother, Anthony, chose to go to a drive-in movie rather than driving to Weston to attend a dance with their

Halfway through the second feature, they decided to go home. On the way, they stopped to pick up a hitchhiker, 16-year-old Brian Paul, of 4628

Cooper. Randy drove west on A St. near 84th St. Early Sunday morning, July 13, his car collided with a pickup northbound on 84th, driven by Harry Large, 37, of Route 3, Lincoln.

A witness told police the car was traveling at a speed of 115 miles per hour.

The pickup landed on its side. Large suffered multiple injuries and was taken to a hospital, where he was listed in serious condition. He is still hospitalized.

Snow's car careened into a power pole following the collision. His brother and Paul suffered severe cuts and bruises. They too were hospitalized and have since been released.

Randy was killed. His parents say he had never driven on that road before.

There was one other death soon thereafter, bringing to four the number killed on Lincoln's streets in three days. On July 8, Lisa Ann Davis, 15, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Jack E. Davis, 2221 Heather Lane, was hit by a car eastbound on Old Cheney Rd. as she rode her bicycle north on Tipperary Trail. A student at Pound Junior High School and member of Westminster United Presbyterian Church, Lisa was originally listed in critical condition, then moved to serious condition. On July 14, she died. Four traffic deaths in three days as the result of four separate accidents is an unwanted first for Lincoln. But it's too late to do anything about those four lives now.

Accident's can't be undone. They can only be

His doctors advised him to work outside, so he took a job with the City Light and Power Co., where he worked for 33 years. Then his emphysema flared up again. He tried a desk job for a couple of months, but just wasn't able to work

McNeal retired in 1947 and spent the next 28 years going in and out of Veterans Hospital so often the staff knew him well. On two occasions, he was hospitalized for a nine-month period. When he wasn't in the hospital, he liked to work outside, taking care of the yard and planting flowers.

He always looked forward to summer.

On July 11, the McNeals had just finished dinner when Mrs. McNeal decided to go to the store across the street for a gallon of milk. McNeal offered to go head injuries. McNeal died two days later.

* * * Seven-year-old David Ketterer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Ketterer, of 2810 S. 40th, looked forward to summer, too. But he was looking forward to next summer more than anything else. There are so many things a boy can't do or join or participate in until he's 8 years old. Next summer, David would have been 8.

The youngest of the four Ketterer children, David was an active, friendly "bundle of energy." He seemed to know everybody. If a street repair crew did anything more than just drive through the neighborhood, David would get to know them. And everybody seemed to like him, too.

David went swimming a lot at Eden Park swimming pool this summer. He didn't know how to swim yet, but he got in and tried. Next summer, he would have been old enough for lessons.

Then there was music. David loved music. His parents remember him sitting around the house strumming a guitar he didn't really know how to play, perhaps thinking of taking lessons someday.

And, of course, like a lot of other boys, David was "practicing like mad" so he would be good enough to play on an organized baseball team next

Next fall, David would have been a second grader at Cathedral of the Risen Christ School, 3245 S. 37th. And he was looking forward to being old enough to take his first Communion. Next year.

David went with his mother to Eden Park pool on July 12 to watch a swimming meet. But nothing could hold his active attention for long. About noon, he got bored and started walking home with a young and Antelope Creek Rd., trying to catch up with some other friends, when he was hit by a car driven by 83-year-old John Broening of Bennett. Mrs. Ketterer thought at first that David had just wandered off around the pool somewhere. He died at a local hospital two hours later.

If all goes as planned, there will soon be a new tree at the Eden Park pool - planted there in David's honor by his friends.

Randy L. Snow, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett

Snow, of 1003 S. 34th, had a busy summer ahead of him. There were so many things planned, so many things going on. The highlight was to be the family's annual camping trip, to be made this year when Randy sinished summer school at East High.

CAR SLAMMED INTO POLE . . . after colliding with pickup. Snow youth was killed, three other people hospitalized

The Snow family always tried to do things

And Randy was always busy - attending Redeemer Lutheran Church's high school choir practice one night, going to Junior Achievement another night and to an Explorer meeting on a third.

A member of Boy Scouts from age 8 to 15, Randy collected the usual badges, went on the usual camping trips. Last fall, he "outgrew" the Boy Scouts and joined the Explorers.

But his real passion of the moment was Junior Achievement, a program that teaches youth to run their own small businesses. Randy and his brother, Ed, were making and selling personalized matches, name cards and nameplates. Randy hadn't missed a meeting since he'd joined.

The family hobby was water-skiing, and Randy was good at it. A member of Carter Lake Ski Club, Randy had gone with his family to lakes in South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri to compete. He both jumped and skiled in competition and had the trophies to prove it. And, of course, there were cars. Randy loved cars. All he wanted to do was be a mechanic like his father. At 16, he had already made up his mind. Randy's parents say he always respected cars. His only traffic offense came the day he skipped school and was ticketed by a park ranger for spinning the car's wheels in gravel.

On July 12, Randy and his 11-year-old brother, Anthony, chose to go to a drive-in movie rather than driving to Weston to attend a dance with their

Halfway through the second feature, they decided to go home. On the way, they stopped to pick up a hitchhiker, 16-year-old Brian Paul, of 4628

Randy drove west on A St. near 84th St. Early Sunday morning, July 13, his car collided with a pickup northbound on 84th, driven by Harry Large, 37, of Route 3, Lincoln.

A witness told police the car was traveling at a speed of 115 miles per hour.

The pickup landed on its side. Large suffered multiple injuries and was taken to a hospital, where he was listed in serious condition. He is still

Snow's car careened into a power pole following the collision. His brother and Paul suffered severe cuts and bruises. They too were hospitalized and have since been released.

Randy was killed. His parents say he had never driven on that road before.

There was one other death soon thereafter, bringing to four the number killed on Lincoln's streets in three days.

On July 8, Lisa Ann Davis, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Davis, 2221 Heather Lane, was hit by a car eastbound on Old Cheney Rd. as she rode her bicycle north on Tipperary Trail.

If approved by the City Council, the new rates - which would mean a 9% increase in hospital revenue - will go into effect

Sept. 1. The 9% figure was arrived at by averaging proposed increases in both room and services rates, according to Lincoln General Hospital administrator Robert Brungard.

would increase from 7% to 10% over current figures, depending on the type of room in question.

The daily cost of a private room would increase from $64 to $70; a semi-private room from $58 to $64; and a three-bed room from $52 to $57. Brungard said the "primary reason" for the requested increase is the rising costs of hospital materials and employe salaries.

In addition, he noted that Lincoln General, like most hospitals tary" towards Lincoln General throughout the country, has experienced a "no growth" situation in average daily patient census. This phenomenon, which influences one source of hospital revenue, is a result of a number of factors such as the increased utilization of outpatient services, Grungard said. "We've tried to avoid" a rate increase, he continued, adding that the last such increase occurred 15 months ago.

Jack Stiles, chairman of the review body, said the committee was "extremely complimenbecause the hospital indicated a projected reduction in full-time employes in keeping with anticipated patient loads.

'This does not reflect a direct reduction of employes" at the hospital, Stiles said. Rather, the reduction will be "picked up through attrition" (i.e., if a position becomes vacant through resignation, retirement, etc., the administration "may not fill it").

Stiles said the 9% increase request was in keeping with national trends.

Hibler Asks To Hold Concert Series

County Commissioner Jan Gauger said the County Board could restrict the concerts to Sunday afternoons, from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. However, she isn't sure that concerts would be a legal use under the county zoning laws.

Mrs. Gauger said she felt the board had no alternative but to deny Hibler's application since he failed to check with the health department and sheriff's office as he agreed to do several weeks ago.

Commissioner Bruce Hamilton suggested the board postpone action until reports are received on those matters since Hibler doesn't expect his first public concert to be held until mid-August.

The consultants think there is a good chance Lincoln will get those federal dollars. The transit planning study is just one required step to apply for that money.

LTS should hire another staff person, the consultants say. And the LTS Board, an advisory group to the mayor and council, should become "transit advocates."

The City-County Planning Commission has approved the preliminary transit study.

The consultants recommend that the equipment be purchased in stages and that's just what the LTS Board is proposing the City Council do. In the 1975-76 budget proposals the board wants to buy 13 full-size buses, for $65,000

New equipment and a garage to house those buses would cost another $620,000. Money is also budgeted to install 360 bus stop signs and construct bus shelters next year.

LTS hopes the federal government will pay 80% of the bill.

The consultants think there is a good chance Lincoln will get those federal dollars. The transit planning study is just one required step to apply for that

The consultants also are recommending that LTS make several route changes, increase the frequency at which the buses run, expand service to Sundays and week nights and start an aggressive marketing program.

LTS should hire another staff person, the consultants say. And the LTS Board, an advisory group to the mayor and council, should become "transit ad-

By JANE BRYANT QUINN New York - A number of grocery chains around the country advertise special discounts for "senior citizens." Some are generous, some aren't. But they all represent at least some savings for older people.

If your own store has such a plan, you'll probably want to stamp recipients, as well as take advantage of it. Some stores are making an honest effort to do well by people of limited means. But for August of this year, but a others, a senior-citizens plan is no more than a public relations gimmick - something they can brag about in big signs in the window, but which gives little value once you get in the store.

Some stores make older people feel welcome, while others treat them like charity cases. It's embarrassing to have to stand in a "senior citizens" line, or to be treated brusquely while applying for one's "golden age" card.

This kind of insensitive handling forces people to commit the "crimes" of age and limited financial means right home again. The store provides before the eyes of their fellow shoppers.

If a store chooses to offer discounts as a traffic builder or publicity gimmick, fine. But there's no need to make the plan Supermarkets General a troublesome one to the very people in whose name the groups - some paid for by the publicity is being achieved.

An example of a good program which other stores might want to copy is that offered by the Shopwell chain, which has 99 stores in New York and Connecticut. It's not for older people only. The unemployed and food-

Older people got a free sticker from a "courtesy" desk for every $1 worth of food they bought; after spending $150, they received $2 worth of free food. That's a saving of a little over 1 percent, a splendid example of a discount not worth a trip across

The sticker program was awkward to administer, and a Foodarama spokesman says that people were cheating the stores by turning in food receipts they had picked up from the floor. The stores also had a foodcoupon program for older people, which was stopped because the stores couldn't run it efficiently. However, they have retained 10 percent discounts on prescription drugs.

The kinds of token programs being offered in chains around the country include: discounts on a severely limited number of items (such as one chain's 10 percent discount on fresh produce, Tuesdays only); small discounts lasting for one week or one month only; and coupon offers with the number of coupons sharply limited in

Any discount helps, of course, but programs like these offer minimal benefits to the shopper, while giving the store a nice advertising gimmick. Older people would do well to check exactly what they're being offered in a "senior citizens" plan, before

Some Special Discounts Are Just 'Gimmicks'

By JANE BRYANT QUINN New York - A number of grocery chains around the country advertise special discounts for "senior citizens." Some are generous, some aren't. But they all represent at least some savings for older people.

—Staying Ahead-

If your own store has such a plan, you'll probably want to take advantage of it. But is a discount on food purchases worth an inconvenient trip across town? The answer to this question depends on what's really being offered.

Some stores are making an honest effort to do well by people of limited means. But for others, a senior-citizens plan is no more than a public relations gimmick - something they can brag about in big signs in the window, but which gives little value once you get in the store.

Some stores make older people feel welcome, while others treat them like charity cases. It's embarrassing to have to stand in a "senior citizens" line, or to be treated brusquely while applying for one's "golden age" card.

This kind of insensitive handling forces people to commit the "crimes" of age and limited financial means right before the eyes of their fellow shoppers.

If a store chooses to offer discounts as a traffic builder or publicity gimmick, fine. But there's no need to make the plan a troublesome one to the very people in whose name the publicity is being achieved.

An example of a good program which other stores might want to copy is that offered by the Shopwell chain, which has 99 stores in New York and Connecticut. It's not for older people only. The unemployed and food-stamp recipients, as well as shoppers over 62, can buy Shopwell savings certificates at a 10 percent discount. The certificates are used as cash for making any kind of purchase in a Shopwell store.

The program was originally planned to run from March until August of this year, but a spokesman for the chain says they now plan to continue it.

Another example of thoughtful planning is that offered by Wegmans Food Markets, with 31 stores around Rochester and Syracuse. There are no special discounts, but four stores around Rochester offer something just as valuable to many older people - transportation.

Once a week, buses pick up elderly shoppers at 10 housing projects, and take them to the store free of charge. They shop for an hour and then are taken home again. The store provides chairs for anyone who finishes shopping early and has to wait

Some of the stores belonging to the 104-unit East Coast chain, Supermarkets General (Pathmark), also organize bus groups - some paid for by the store and others financed by church or civic groups. There are also 10 percent discounts on prescription drugs throughout the chain, and discount coupons on things like vitamins and toothpaste.

A spectacular failure was the plan recently halted by Foodarama, a 43-unit chain headquartered in Freehold, N.J. One of their stores in Pennsylvania and a handful in New Jersey offered a Senior Saver booklet.

Older people got a free sticker from a "courtesy" desk for every $1 worth of food they bought; after spending $150, they received $2 worth of free food. That's a saving of a little over 1 percent, a splendid example of a discount not worth a trip across

The sticker program was awkward to administer, and a Foodarama spokesman says that people were cheating the stores by turning in food receipts they had picked up from the floor. The stores also had a foodcoupon program for older people, which was stopped because the stores couldn't run it efficiently. However, they have retained 10 percent discounts on prescription drugs

The kinds of token programs being offered in chains around the country include: discounts on a severely limited number of items (such as one chain's 10 percent discount on fresh produce, Tuesdays only); small discounts lasting for one week or one month only; and coupon offers with the number of coupons sharply limited in number.

Any discount helps, of course, but programs like these offer minimal benefits to the shopper, while giving the store a nice advertising gimmick. Older people would do well to check exactly what they're being offered in a "senior citizens" plan, before getting their hopes up too high. (c) 1975, The Washington Post Company

Officials Set Aug. 27 Date To Rule On Nuclear Plant

By BOB GUENTHER Star Staff Writer

State officials hope to decide Commission. by Aug. 27 whether to sanction a second nuclear power plant at Saunders Miller of Des Moines, Ft. Calhoun.

The State Power Review Board has completed two days of testimony on Omaha Public Power District's plans to build an 1,150-megawatt nuclear station there at a cost of $810

The time will be needed to transcribe the hearing and allow board members time to study it.

The second plant is being opposed by a group known as Nebraska Public Power Project on economic, safety and environmental grounds.

Omaha Mart Trading Dull On Friday

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)-It was a typically dull Friday on the Omaha livestock market.

The day's hog run was estimated at just 2,000 head, with barrows and gilts trading fairly active. However, the butcher trend was steady to 50-cents lower than Thursday's uneven trade.

There were only about 300 head of cattle on offer, with slaughter steers and heifers among the absent. The receipts weren't enough in any one class to establish a trade, but scattered sales on utility and commercial cows were steady at $21.00-$23.25.

There were about 50 sheep on offer, and again, that was hardly enough to test the trade. One lot of choice and prime 90-pound spring lambs cleared at $48.00. The USDA estimated Monday's receipts at 5,500 cattle and calves, 4,500 hogs and 600 sheep. Looking briefly at the overall weekly trends: Barrows and gilts trended 50-to-75 cents higher, instances $1.00 higher on he limited receipts over 260-pounds. Sows were largely $1.00-to-$1.50 high-

Slaughter steers were 50-cents to $1.00 lower, with some good and low-choice offerings weighing from 950-to-1,000 pounds losing from $1.25-$1.50. Heifers were mostly $1.00 lower, but some she stock coming in from 750-to-850 pounds was noted on tickets reflecting a drop of $1.25-to-$1.75. Cows trended $1.00-$1.50 higher.

Klein Holds State Golf Lead, Sasse Fires Record 65

THE LINCOLN STAR

Alliance - Lincoln city champ Rennie Sasse shattered the Alliance Municipal course record with a seven-under-par 65 during the third round of the Nebraska State Men's Amateur Golf Championship here Friday, but still found himself two strokes off the pace going into Saturday's final 18-hole round.

Scottsbluff's Mike Klein recorded his third straight subpar round to maintain his frontrunning position. Klein tacked a second successive 69 onto an opening 67 for a 205 total.

Exchange Offered Hunters

Nebraska is willing to give up already closed. some of its prime Canada goose hunting lands for abolishment of the terminal goose hunting date when the Central Flyway regulatory waterfowl hunting meetings begin next Monday in Oklahoma City, Okla. That's how North Platte commissioner Tod Kunzelman and Norfolk commissioner Don O. Bridge saw things Friday as the board of commissioners set recommendations for the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission's Central Flyway presentation. In an effort to rectify past dissatisfaction in eastern and western Nebraska hunters, the commissioners recommended the formation of Lake McConaughy, from the dam to the Lewellen Bridge, as a goose refuge from Dec. 8 on.

The move, termed a concession by the commissioners, would be offered as a trade for abolishment of the Dec. 8 terminal date forced upon Nebraskan waterfowlers the past several years. The terminal date has been tabbed as the major gripe of western goose hunters who don't see the late December main push of dark geese from the north because their season is

If that offering doesn't work, the commissioners recommended requesting a zoning system for Nebraska, such as the zone systems of the Dakotas and Colorado to permit later shooting in the west but the early eastern season for blue and snow geese.

'We can't get something for nothing," Kunzelman said. "Yes, and it's about time we set our foot down and really make our feelings known to the Flyway Council," Bridge added.

The Central Flyway recommendations go on to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service for final approval before the Nebraska options are made known Aug. 25 and seasons set for the state Aug. 26. In other Friday action the commissioners voted to take temporary control of the Kimball Reservoir water level maintenance. The reservoir was to be abandoned due to a faulty The commissioners were also east of Hickman, is due to be closed for fish renovation.

The move to close Wagon Train was prompted by the Commission's failure in efforts to control overpopulations of white perch inhabiting the lake. Fishery biologists Bob Thomas and Jim Johnson said the only cure for the problem will be a complete renovation as soon as possible.

The renovation, to begin Monday, according to a report given the commissioners, will involve a five-foot drawdown of the lake level, thus practically ending boating and swimming recreation at the lake for at least the month of August.

Then the lake will be poisoned with a fish toxin, followed by a period of restocking. The restocking will involve placement of minnows, bluegill, catfish and bass in the lake this fall. Northern pike and walleye will be stocked annually through 1978, the plan says. And in order to permit the fish to reach catchable size, the lake will be closed to fishing for a two-year

Both Thomas and Johnson indicated the residents of the area, including townspeople of agreement with the renovation and were confident the resulting fishery would enhance the area.

In remaining Friday morning action, the commissioners heard from a Lincoln-based group wishing to construct a shooting range on the northeast corner of the Commission's land at Branched Oak Lake near Raymond. A group of citizens also appeared to oppose the shooting

Keyes, Game Commission Discuss Gretna Facility

Springfield tried Friday to prod the first problem is trying to boil the Nebraska State Game and Parks Commission into action on transforming the old Gretna fish hatchery into a public aquarium but could get

The barrier to action was a technicality in legislation authorizing preliminary stages of the project.

Last month, the commission tabled a motion to get started on plans for the transformation and Friday Keyes appeared before that body to find out why.

Noting that $30,000 in planning money was appropriated this year, Keyes told the commissioners "the legislature as good as told you" that the $350,-000 needed for construction would be there when it's needed. However, Jack Obbink of Lin-

Sen. Orval Keyes of coln, commission chairman, said down what started out as an $800,000 project to $350,000

> Keves contended the only thing needed was the aquarium and not the nature center and visitor center that would be financed by the $800,000.

Obbink insisted, "It's obvious we can't build a nearly $1 million center for $350,000" and finally a commission staff member showed Keyes why Obbink and other commissioners kept talking about more than just an aquarium. In the appropriations bill passed by the legislature there was $30,000 in planning money appropriated. But, the legislation says the money is to be used in coming up with plans for the Keyes said he wasn't aware of the language of the bill and added he now knew why the project was tabled.

Willard Barbee, commission director, told Keyes the staff was looking into the matter and he suggested the route to go might be to come up with plans set up on a phased construction basis with the aquarium being the first item to be completed.

Keyes agreed with that idea. But in addition, Keyes said he wanted the plans to be drafted so that it would reflect the absence of a heating system as well as the cost of putting one in. The reason, he said, was that he wanted to explore the possibility of getting another appropriation from the legislature to install a solar heating system.

He estimated the cost of such a system as anywhere between

"I hit a good drive off the tee and needed a driver for my second shot," he said. "But the wind was so strong I was afraid it would blow me off balance. So laus said, "the 71 was a better I put the driver back in the bag, took out the three wood, hit it good and came up short."

Roman Zipper Seeks Second Straight Win one third in 15 appearances this Mr. Blair combined to return the By MARK GORDON

Star Sports Writer

Roman Zipper obviously is a class horse.

The pride of the Kemling Bros. Inc. was the 1974 juvenile champion at Fonner Park in Grand Island. But misfortune struck the 2-year-old colt when he hurt himself at Ak-Sar-Ben.

This year has been most productive for the Zip Line colt who has captured four races. He's proven he can rebound from an injury to regain his sparkling 2-year-old form.

He'll receive another opportunity to demonstrate his sprinting prowess when he faces seven 3-year-old foes in Saturday's $4,000 State Fair Handicap at the State Fairgrounds.

It's no secret that Roman Zipper is the horse to catch in this 6-furlong chase. Racing secretary and handicapper Bob Pollock assigned him top-weight of 126 pounds — the most weight he has shouldered this season.

He must concede from 7 to 19 pounds as rider Terry Barnes attempts to gain his second straight win on the O. D. Kemling-trained colt.

Barnes guided Roman Zipper to an easy seven-length romp last Saturday in a 6-furlong allowance chase. Roman Zipper's time was 1:12 2-5 — the fastest 3/4-mile clocking here this

Overall, Roman Zipper has a 1975 mark of four triumphs, three seconds and one third in 10 outings for earnings of $35,011.

Other entrants, their weights and riders (if named) include Alverna Robinson's Winsor Fair (112 and Rodolfo Calderon), Double U. Stable's Hi Bouncer (112 and Dave King); Hickory Hill Stable's Irish (111); Art C. Vigare and Tom Kruger's Ima Fleet (110) and Mart Tompkins' Glo Master (107 and Perry Compton).

Streak Ends

When Bart Ford's Voner Marine won the sixth race Friday at the State Fairgrounds with a win payoff of $5.20 it was the first favorite to win after 13 straight misses.

The last favorite to win before Voner Marine was M. J. Thomas' Independent Fox ($5.80) who captured Wednesday's eighth race. Only two favorites have prevailed in the last 16 races.

Barnes Wins 2

Exchange Offered Hunters

Nebraska is willing to give up already closed. some of its prime Canada goose hunting lands for abolishment of the terminal goose hunting date when the Central Flyway regulatory waterfowl hunting meetings begin next Monday in Oklahoma City, Okla.

That's how North Platte commissioner Tod Kunzelman and Norfolk commissioner Don O. Bridge saw things Friday as the board of commissioners set recommendations for the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission's Central Flyway presentation.

In an effort to rectify past dissatisfaction in eastern and western Nebraska hunters, the commissioners recommended the formation of Lake McConaughy, from the dam to the Lewellen Bridge, as a goose refuge from Dec. 8 on.

The move, termed a concession by the commissioners, would be offered as a trade for abolishment of the Dec. 8 terminal date forced upon Nebraskan waterfowlers the past several years. The terminal date has been tabbed as the major gripe of western goose hunters who don't see the late December main push of dark geese from area. the north because their season is

east of Hickman, is due to be closed for fish renovation.

The move to close Wagon Train was prompted by the Commission's failure in efforts to control overpopulations of white perch inhabiting the lake. Fishery biologists Bob Thomas and Jim Johnson said the only cure for the problem will be a complete renovation as soon as possible.

The renovation, to begin Monday, according to a report given the commissioners, will involve a five-foot drawdown of the lake level, thus practically ending boating and swimming recreation at the lake for at least the month of August.

Then the lake will be poisoned with a fish toxin, followed by a period of restocking. The restocking will involve placement of minnows, bluegill, catfish and bass in the lake this fall. Northern pike and walleye will be stocked annually through 1978, the plan says. And in order to permit the fish to reach catchable size, the lake will be closed to fishing for a two-year

State To Save Kimball Dam

The Nebraska State Game and Parks commission Friday approved an emergency plan designed to keep the Kimball Reservoir from being drained and taken off the places to fish

Under the plan approved, the commission would hire someone to supervise the reservoir while ways of repairing the reservoir dam and getting it back to full capacity are being sought.

The Kimball Irrigation District earlier announced it was abandoning the reservoir because of problems with the dam. The district said it planned to completely empty the reser-

"The draining of it would put a tragic end to this fine fishery,' he said in asking the commission to appoint someone to oversee the reservoir and keep enough water in it for fish until permanent dam repairs can be made.

Capra Injured

ATLANTA (UPI) - Pitcher Buzz Capra, who had the lowest earned run average in the National Leeague in 1974, will miss the remainder of the 1975 season because of tendinitis in his right shoulder, the Atlanta Braves announced Friday

Chiefs Trade OB Jaynes

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Dave McMurray College and the Jaynes practically grew up with the Kansas City Chiefs, but his dream of becoming their quarterback was shattered when they traded him Friday to Atlan-

It did not come as a complete surprise to the Kansas All- Monday in Falls City. America, but he said he was shocked and disappointed.

"It hurts," he said. "But I just want to play ball, and if it meant sitting on the bench in Kansas City as opposed to playing somewhere else that is not what I wanted.'

For the "Kansas Flash" the Chiefs got Tom Geredine, who wound up his second pro season last year as a starting wide receiver for the Falcons. Geredine was a football star at Kansas City's Central High School and at Northeast Missouri State before Atlanta made him their fourthround choice in the 1973 draft.

Good Seats Disappearing

Good seats for the Baltimore Colt-Atlanta Falcon NFL football exhibition in Lincoln Aug. 16 "are rapidly disappearing," according to Nebraska ticket manager Jim Pittenger. Pittenger said his office has sold approximately 20,-000 reserved tickets for the game at NU's Memorial Stadium. Pittenger also noted a mistake had been made in the printing of Nebraska football tickets. The home game tickets against Iowa State bear the date Nov. 22, which is the date of the Oklahoma-

Nebraska game. The date on the Iowa State ducats should be Nov. 15.

In other business, the board reviewed LB325, the new state open meetings law, and adopted a formal resolution to comply with its provisions - including notice of meetings to the public and the media.

Meeting Held Earlier

Before that action, some news reports Friday indicated the board may have violated LB325 by holding an unscheduled work session at 10:35 a.m., whereas the agenda placed the official meeting time at 1:30 p.m. The Star had checked

Thursday with the Lincoln Hilton, where a spokesman reported the board's meeting was scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Board Chairman William Colwell of Chadron pointed that out, and explained the late start occurred because he had to take care of a personal business matter. No formal action was taken in the morning committee meetings, Colwell said. Reporters were admitted to all Among business items, the munity Colleges, abolished by the 1975 Legislature. He is currently completing his doctoral dissertation in adult and continuing education at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The board unanimously approved two Wayne State College appointments: Dr. Ed Elliott, academic affairs vice president, at $26,000, and Dr. Irvin C. Brandt, institutional planning and development vice president. at $24,933. Reesman objected to

and Murl Mauser of Big Springs

Egermayer, amid parliamentary confusion about the order of business, said action on the equipment expenditure was "absolutely absurd" because the board had insufficient advance information.

A later move to reopen consideration of the equipment bids did not succeed, as Egermayer objected strongly and with liberal profanity. Finally, Egermayer, chairman of the board's buildings and grounds subcommittee, said "I am no longer responsible for any bonded properties, as chairman . . . " dealing with bonds and revenue.

Colwell pledged he would spell out more clearly the functions of the subcommittees, as requested by board member Anne Campbell, state education from revenue bonds to remodel and replace equipment in Kearney State College residence halls. A $992 item will be rebid, because Egermayer objected to only one bidder offering a proposal.

Same Objection

Reesman made the same objection on Egermayer's motion to reroof the Peru State College dormitory complex, but Egermayer defended the single bid stated, explaining the improvements are badly needed for the fall term.

Egermayer withdrew his motion, but it was offered again and the $44,294 project was approved 5-1-1. Reesman voted no and Colwell abstained. Reesman said the bidding procedure was "repugnant" to him and the project should be relet.

The board also voted 4-1, with Egermayer on the losing side, to authorize specifications for bidders on razing the Wayne State College physical-industrial building. Utility lines must be replaced to serve dorms, and Egermayer groused again about insufficient advance notice to board members.

The board approved a resolution to retire bonds at Chadron State College with part of its $750,600 surplus fund account. The principal amount is $15,000, and total purchase price, $6,954.

Board members approved establishment of a Public Affairs Institute at Wayne State, but did not consider an earlier proposal to charge out-of-state students the same tuition as Nebraska

Shadduck Resigns Prison Post To Train For Lutheran Ministry By BOB GUENTHER his own parish.

Star Staff Writer

James Shadduck, associate warden of the Nebraska Penal Complex, has given up his post to become a Lutheran minister. Saturday morning, Shadduck and his family will move to Dubuque, Iowa, where he will attend Wartburg, an American Lutheran seminary.

Shadduck said Friday the switch isn't as drastic as it might sound. Actually, he said the field of corrections and the ministry are very similar. Both attempt to inspire people to lead better

"I thought about entering the I have been thinking about it," seminary before I took a job in corrections 10 years ago," he said. The thought of leaving corrections to enter the seminary has always been in the back of his mind, he said.

It's possible, he conceded, that in four years after his ordination he could return to corrections in some religious capacity.

But right now he says he wants Nebraska-Lincoln.

Shadduck came to the Penitentiary in 1965 as a counselor. After a stint in the Army, he returned to work at the State Parole office in Scottsbluff and later as a corrections specialist for the State Crime Commission. He was named associate warden in 1972.

Warden Robert Parratt has named Bill Dodds, 41, to succeed Shadduck,. Dodds has been assistant director of the postrelease programs for the Penal Complex for the last year, after joining the staff in 1972 as a correctional officer on the work

The board unanimously approved two Wayne State College appointments: Dr. Ed Elliott, academic affairs vice president, at $26,000, and Dr. Irvin C. Brandt, institutional planning and development vice president, at $24,933. Reesman objected to their salaries as "too high."

In other business, the board reviewed LB325, the new state open meetings law, and adopted a formal resolution to comply with its provisions - including notice of meetings to the public and the media.

Meeting Held Earlier

Before that action, some news reports Friday indicated the board may have violated LB325 by holding an unscheduled work session at 10:35 a.m., whereas the agenda placed the official meeting time at 1:30 p.m.

The Star had checked Thursday with the Lincoln Hilton, where a spokesman reported the board's meeting was scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Board Chairman William Colwell of Chadron pointed that out, and explained the late start occurred because he had to take care of a personal business matter.

No formal action was taken in the morning committee meetings, Colwell said. Reporters were admitted to all sessions.

Among business items, the board rejected 4-3 a motion to accept $29,927 in bids to repair commissioner.

University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Richard A. Bringelson and replace equipment in four buildings at Wayne State College. Colwell, Reesman, George Egermayer of Omaha and Murl Mauser of Big Springs voted no.

'Absolutely Absurd'

Egermayer, amid parliamentary confusion about the order of business, said action on the equipment expenditure was "absolutely absurd" because the board had insufficient advance information.

A later move to reopen consideration of the equipment bids did not succeed, as Egermayer objected strongly and with liberal profanity.

Finally, Egermayer, chairman of the board's buildings and grounds subcommittee, said "I am no longer responsible for any bonded properties, as chairman " dealing with bonds and revenue

Colwell pledged he would spell out more clearly the functions of the subcommittees, as requested by board member Anne Campbell, state education

The board approved $21,000 from revenue bonds to remodel and replace equipment in Kearney State College residence halls. A $992 item will be rebid, because Egermayer objected to only one bidder offering a proposal.

Same Objection Reesman made the same objection on Egermayer's motion to reroof the Peru State College dormitory complex, but Egermayer defended the single bid stated, explaining the improvements are badly needed for the fall term.

Egermayer withdrew his motion, but it was offered again and the $44,294 project was approved 5-1-1. Reesman voted no and Colwell abstained. Reesman said the bidding procedure was "repugnant" to him and the project should be relet.

The board also voted 4-1, with Egermayer on the losing side, to authorize specifications for bidders on razing the Wayne State College physical-industrial building. Utility lines must be replaced to serve dorms, and Egermayer groused again about insufficient advance notice to board members.

The board approved a resolution to retire bonds at Chadron State College with part of its $750,600 surplus fund account. The principal amount is $15,000, and total purchase price, $6,954.

Board members approved establishment of a Public Affairs Institute at Wayne State, but did not consider an earlier proposal to charge out-of-state students the same tuition as Nebraska

Shadduck Resigns Prison Post To Train For Lutheran Ministry By BOB GUENTHER

Star Staff Writer

James Shadduck, associate warden of the Nebraska Penal Complex, has given up his post to become a Lutheran minister. Saturday morning, Shadduck and his family will move to Dubuque, Iowa, where he will attend Wartburg, an American

Lutheran seminary. Shadduck said Friday the switch isn't as drastic as it might sound. Actually, he said the field of corrections and the ministry are very similar. Both attempt to inspire people to lead better lives. "I thought about entering the seminary before I took a job in corrections 10 years ago," he said. The thought of leaving corrections to enter the seminary has always been in the back of some religious capacity. his mind, he said.

William Dodds "For the last year my wife and I have been thinking about it," he said.

It's possible, he conceded, that in four years after his ordination he could return to corrections in his own parish. Shadduck came to the Penitentiary in 1965 as a counselor. After a stint in the Army, he returned to work at the State Parole office in Scottsbluff and later as a corrections specialist for the State Crime Commission. He was named associate warden in 1972.

Warden Robert Parratt has named Bill Dodds, 41, to succeed Shadduck,. Dodds has been assistant director of the postrelease programs for the Penal Complex for the last year, after joining the staff in 1972 as a correctional officer on the work release program.

A graduate of Nebraska City High School, Dodds has attended the Southeast Community College and the University of But right now he says he wants Nebraska-Lincoln.

CAPRI II-

the first 1976 automobile

available in America... Dean Bros. MERCURY

MERCURY LINCOLN

Capri II is getting a lot of car buyers very excited . . . and for five good reasons.

1. Size-Considerable smaller than the most popular American compact cars, Capri II is designed for the road.

2. Styling-Perciding the German craftsmanship, Capri II felt the inspired touch of Italy's Ghia design studios.

3. Performance-A sophisticated road machine with spirit, it accelerates, handles and brakes smoothly, predictably.

4. Luxury-Choose from three levels of Capri II luxury: standard . . Decor . . and Ghia. Each distinctively different.

5. Economy-The aerodynamically efficient Capri II provides good fuel economy, solid-state Ignition, steel belted radials.

Aries message for valid hint You gain a friend Know it and be grateful Take nothing for granted Accent is on

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Seek new directions Path you currently travel could lead to dead end or a circle. Key is to be forthright enough to Insist on straight line—leading to objective. Leo, Aquarius could be in picture. Perceive potential. Don't settle for bits and pleces.

LEO (July 23 Aug. 22) What you seek comes to you Family member or close friend shows the way Be receptive Don't reject legitimate offer. You are making serious adjustments which could bring greater contentment on domestic front viRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22) Obtain valid hint from Leo message Don't force issues Accent is on patience Legal affairs can be handled — you need not go into "blue funk" Means your strength is present, but is merely lying dormant Let offers temporarily take initiative

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 22) Decision which afffects family affairs, finances is overdue. You can accept responsibility without fear. Know it and act accordingly Lean on experience of older in-dividual Refuse to panic Your position is stronger than might be apparent.

scorpio (Oct 23-Nov 21) Added recognition is indicated as popularity increases. Key is to maintain balance, to avoid extravagance. One who makes demands may not be young at heart, merely immature. Know it and act as if you are aware of it. You don't have to "buy" your way!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22-Dec 21) Judgment could be impaired by romantic desires. You may be seeing through haze of wishful thinking. Strive for balance. Study Scorpio message. You have chance for exciting, new start or project. You do have right to more independence. Know it and live your own life!

and live your own life!

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 19) If you don't know what to do, do nothling. Means ride with tide Emphasis is on message, short trip or visit. Relative may not be telling complete story.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb 18) Variety is your "personal spice" Be ready for quick changes, cash outlays, payments and the gaining of special credits. Status quo goes out of nearest window. You grow as a person, you enlarge horizons and you make contact with people who stimulate your intellect.

PISCES (Feb 19-March 20). Much that

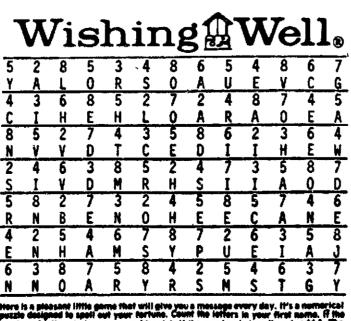

simulate your intellect

PISCES (Feb 19-March 20) Much that was settled is due for revision. You learn that techniques can be perfected, that apparent mistakes could have been deliberate. There is a general housekeeping and you could be direct beneficiary.

iF TODAY is YOUR BIRTHDAY you are direct, attractive to opposite sex, bigger than life, extravagant, an organizer and master of showmanship You never do anything halfway — it is hot or coid, all or nothing. New start this year is beneficial — July was very important You are starting anew — you make wonderful contacts and you could be on road to riches!
